Momma, my heart aches so badly for you. But you aren't sick anymore, Momma. No more pain. I miss you more than words can express. You were always my best friend. Always will be. You taught me what unconditional love truly is. You were always there for me, encouraging me and cheering me on. You believed in me when I didn't even believe in myself. I love you with all my heart and soul. I am so lost and broken without you. You will always be with me because you are in my heart. I am so honored to be your daughter. I love you so very much, Momma. Always and forever. Xoxo

Momma... oh, Momma. I hurt so badly. I miss you so terribly. I need you and you're not here anymore. I hadn't looked at this since you died. It's hard without you, momma. It's a different world without you here. I love you, Momma. Xoxo

And now, Momma, here I am... 43 years old and still needing you. Omg how I wish you were still here with us. It still hurts the same as it did the day I watched you leave us. I think it hurts even more now actually. I don't know how that's possible. The kids are grown up now. I know you've watched their every step. But I would love to have you back here with us, in person. I talk to you all the time. I hope you hear me. We lost Bub, as you know. But I get a little comfort knowing y'all are finally together again. He needed you. I need you, but he's there now. And I'm happily here with my babies and the man I wish you had gotten to meet. He's amazing, Momma. I know you'd love him. Till next time, just keep an ear out, I'll be checking in. I love you with every bit of my being. You are everything I hold love up against. You taught me real love, from the moment I took my first breath, until you took your last. That means everything to me, Momma. I love you to the moon and stars and back again. Forever. Xoxo <3
