“ Oh our dearest, sweetest Heather. God sent you into my life when I needed you the very most. From that day at Journey when I first met you to the night you came to see me at the hospital you changed my life. You're entire family has change my life. You will not be forgotten. I see things everywhere that remind me of you so I know that God has let you stick around and keep an eye on us. Danny and the girls are so strong. You raised amazing young ladies and have an amazing husband. We are not crying cause you left us, we cry because we know you are with God.

“ I first met Heather in 1987 when Estie became a nanny to my daughter, Kristin. Heather was friendly, talkative, and direct...the very traits that made her a strong member of the Lord's army. When Kristin "aged-out" of after school care, but wasn't old enough to be home alone; she stayed with Heather and the girls. They were actually babies. Heather had more pictures taken than anyone I know 😊 and often included Kristin....like family. She doted on her girls and loved them with a passion.

Danny and girls, I lost my mother when I was 22 and my husband when I was 28. I feel your pain, and will keep you in prayers. What seems impossible is possible through the love of Christ who strengthens us. One day at a time.

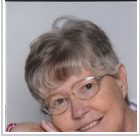

Praying for Estie and family too...thank you for playing such an important part in the life of our family.

“ I knew Heather for about 2 years and became a friend to the whole family. She did not let anything show of how physical she felt, I found out of her going home to be with the Lord via the facebook by Pastor Jeff and Emily. Emily remember and all of the family I am just a call away. Sweet little one remember Heather (Meme) will always be around through memories u have for her. Danny My deepest prayers goes out to you and the girls. Remember stay strong and take time for u and them. The police dept can do a bit without you. Take time for you.

“ Heather was a dedicated wife and mother. As my cousin by marriage, I didn't have the chance to know her as well as I would have liked given our distance. However, we did get to know each other via social media and enjoyed sharing viewpoints, reading her witty posts, and keeping up with her family. We already miss her presence.

There was no question that she loved Danny and their children. And, we loved her for loving Danny with such devotion. I often admired her selfless sacrifice to raising her family and her community service and support.

I am so sad today to know that she is gone and that I can't be in Tulsa for the funeral. However, the love that she gave into the community appears to be returned with love, prayers, and support for Danny and the family, which is greatly appreciated.
