“ Ian was always kind to me, but especially after the hospital. He was one of the first people to actually start a conversation with me after my discharge, and he talked to me just like he would any of his other friends. Every time we spoke, he would say, “Oh hey Lexi”, with his signature smile. He was so kind, and I'm so sorry for your loss.

You are all loved and though we are all broken-hearted, no one will hurt as much as your family. This is beyond tragic. He was so sweet. I will miss his hugs and that smile.

“ Ian was one of the greatest people I’ve ever met. He was so kind hearted person, he was very genuine and caring. He was always there for anyone that ever needed him. He was such a good person to talk to when you were feeling down. He made everything so fun no matter what it was. He had the prettiest smile that could make you smile. His laugh is unforgettable. He brought so much joy into everyone’s life. He was an incredible person. He will forever be loved and missed by all. I love you so much Ian. May you rest in peace. Prayers and thoughts go out to the Spann family, I love you guys!!

“ We loved Ian and the beautiful glow he had around him! As everyone has said he was very polite and respectful of everyone. I am blessed to have worked with him. Got to teach him as most as I could in the electrical field and talk about our family and friends. He had a way of keeping a smile on your face when someone would say something funny on the job site. Jennifer always wanted to give him a hug when he came over to the house because he was such a sweet kid! He will be missed greatly! Rest in peace you long curly haired young man!

“ My memory of Ian is that he was very special. He was so polite, and always so willing to do his job fully. He was a hard worker and always always a joy to be around. He was a very funny, very caring person at work. I did not know him outside of work but if Ian was on the schedule, you knew things would be good on whatever he was assigned to. Every interaction I had with him was either funny or he was such a respectful, polite young man. I wish we had more workers like Ian. I am deeply sympathetic for his family. He will truly be missed
We all at Country Mart just loved him so much. He went above and beyond as a friend to those I knew. I'm so proud of who he was and I know his parents must be very proud of him too. Rest in Peace Ian. We all love you so much and can't wait to see you again. , ❤️
