“ He was my downstairs neighbor for a year or so. He was always kind to me, and was often found outside doing yard work around the apartment; even doing it, "To help out the landlord," because "he's an older guy... make his job easier so he doesn't have to do so much." I will always remember James. He was a help, and even let me use his washer and dryer, as I didn't have them upstairs. He will be missed, that is, until we step into eternity, and will see him again
