

Jana Pennokee

November 26, 1959 - April 15, 2023

Jana Faye Pennokee was born on Thursday, November 26, 1959 in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, the daughter of Billy Jack and Joyce Jacqueline Baughman. She passed this life on Saturday, April 15, 2023 at her home in Tulsa. She was 63 years of age.

The former Miss Jana Faye Lankford was a 1977 graduate of Western Heights high school in Oklahoma City. She married Richard Pennokee on April 23, 1977 in Oklahoma City. Jana worked as a pediatric nurse for Aspen Children's Clinic. She loved to bake, cook, decorate her home, plan parties, try out new restaurants, attend the grandkids football games, and attend all activities for her grandkids. Jana enjoyed shopping on QVC and spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren. Jana's greatest achievement is having four beautiful strong hilarious daughters, being the ONE and only Ha-ma, being a wonderful triage nurse and fighting cancer for more than 10 years just to spend another day with her daughters.

Memorial Contribution and or meals/gift cards can be made to 4801 S 185th East Avenue Tulsa, OK 74134

She is survived by,

Husband, Richard Pennokee, of the home

Daughters, Jenni Pennoke-Houck,

Mom, you know what holiday is around the corner. You know it brings me joy. Without you here to help me see my vision through just sucks! Momma I'm trying! Can you at least buy the jack skellington from home depot. That may cheer me up but I doubt it since your the only skeleton I truly want. Hahaha death humor.

You visited me! To me it was more than a dream. It was like a new memory. I kept asking you if you were staying and you wouldn't answer me. It was cause you knew you wouldn't be able to and you didn't want to hurt me. Smart move mom! But after your visit, I crave to see you even more!!! You are my comfort. I love you tremendously. I miss you so much. Sometimes its hard to breathe thinking of your absence. I know its selfish for me to ask you to stay. The day we are truly reunited will be glorious! It will be like the slow motion scene in movies running on the beach. For now I'll settle on your dream visits.

I made it past Halloween. Normally you passed out the candy for me while we went around the neighborhood. I did just that mom. It was a good day. I didn't cry till the end and even then it was more from having a happy day. But now is a terrible day. A day of more holidays to come were your not here. A worry of how I'm gonna survive. I just want to sleep through it. I wanna quit my job were even that's a reminder of you. I feel myself sinking. Mom I miss you sooo much. Btw I have the flu and I wish you were here so you could listen to all my dramatic symptoms.

Well,well,well. You missed my birthday. Kinda rude mom! I was doing okay all day until I got home and it hit me you were not here to greet me in celebration. I thought I'd go unscathed but emotions had other plans. I miss you to much. I miss your voice. I miss your comfort. I JUST miss you! Since I can no longer make new memories with you on my birthday, I'll tell you an old memory i love. Mom, my favorite thing you use to do was make me Mexican casserole on my birthday. The wild fork was another place you and I enjoyed. Do you member the German chocolate pie? Yum! Ohh and how can I forget my kid birthdays. You would take me to captain d's. And after I finished my meal they would give me a sucker. I would go to the grocery store and get my free cookie and get something out of their treasure chest. Lol. Maybe that's why to this day I love turning in all my birthday rewards. Lol, I just realized that makes sense. Lol. Dang it mom! I wish this wasn't a one sided conversation. I love you mom! Happy freaking birthday to me! I'm about to watch the sun rise with you and enjoy my coffee.

Hey mom! Guess what I'm doing? I'm redecorating and I've hit that sweet spot of creativity. Now my moolah doesn't match but hey progress is progress. I find myself saying "oh mom would like this" or I smile at my design and I'm like if only I could show you my masterpiece. I feel the sting but I will say being productive has given me a chance to make it seem like I'm doing something to make you proud. Dad is even doing productive things! Again, mom I'm trying at life. I do feel the sadness creeping in slowly as we approach mothers day and of course your death day. A year seems like 5 but yet also seems like yesterday. I miss your voice, I miss those 2 slightly crooked front teeth. I miss your hillbilly words. I miss listening to you at triage. I miss embarrassing you. I love you so much and sometimes I wish I could see you for like 2 seconds , even a slight wave! Just a quick note of how great heaven is or that you've taken up potterry with Jesus.

I don't know why I chose this as my journal to you. I think its cause when I miss you I come back to watch the video. I got a scent of you today. I was cold and put on your sweater and it smelled like you. It made me cry and smile. Then as I start writing and thinking of how I wish to speak to you. I'm playing my music on random and at this very moment song bird by Fleetwood comes on. Its moments like this I know its you comforting me or maybe its god telling me your ok. Either way I crave these moments. Its a pretty day outside momma and I'm gonna try my hardest to enjoy it." and I love you, I love you, I love you like never before...like never before!!"

Well I feel it bubbling inside. I'm kinda panicking. I'm very upset with you not here. I'm starting to feel lost again. I can't feel your presence and the void is making me dive into the deep. I'm reaching for you but all I can feel and see is the emptiness. Why? Why? I don't want to feel this selfishness. But did you really need to go? I need a mother. I need the reassurance. I need the comfort. I don't want to do this anymore. I don't want to be grown. I don't want the constant reminder of how I'm suppose to keep going. I don't want to keep thinking of your dying face or the way your eyes just flickered and your spirit was gone. No longer here with me.... I really need you to come home. PLEASE! JUST PLEASE.

I woke up this morning wanting to just roll over and suffer the consequences later. I wanted to slam the door in the world's face. I heard your song you played me and I knew it was a matter of time before the loneliness crept in. Then all the signs and reminders that have led me to think of you. I miss you terribly! I just want to say hi or have a quick hug. How are you doing mom? Do you miss me..us? Is heaven just mind blowing? Do you hear my sadness? I try not to be so loud about it but I'm so hurt still. Certain death images won't leave me alone and I sure as heck don't ask for them. I filed them way way way in the back under please take to garbage. But some rude person keeps bringing them back out and filing with happy thoughts. I took off Tuesday to hopefully not drown in misery but the forecast looks cloudy so if you ever wanted to surprise me with a visit. I'd say now is a good time! Please come hang out with your daughters this weekend. We really freaking miss you. I'm kinda just depleted from crying and so I'm done for the night.

We need to have a discussion mom. So I know in the car I felt your presence. I also know that I asked you to play a song to let us know you were thinking of us. Hands down you delivered!!! "The Spinners, I'll be around" you cut me deep mom. I felt a sense of comfort. But you also sent me into a near coma. Now I feel sadness for her and then I talked to Jen and she was angry she couldn't hear from you. Do you know how much we miss you? We are just so up and down right now. Do you know how much we love you? We miss your guidance, your listening ears, and your love....I'm too tired from the rollercoaster, so I'll finish this when I wake up

I know others miss you as well. I want you to know as painful as it is. The sweet memory of you is a blessing. Mom I'm grateful for the time we had. I got the ugly cry out and now I feel peace. I know it's a roller coaster of emotion. I love you and there is just so much I miss. The moments you send reminders comforts me. But I'm not gonna lie. I wish I could feel a hug from you. The night of your passing. I laid in your bed and I grabbed your sweater as if you held my hand and I felt your spirit. I worried that I wasn't gonna survive this. I want you know I'm still fighting. I'll keep pushing mom!!! I love you. Please visit us all tonight.

I was hoping ko doh doh would let me be his stylist but his parents suck.lol. Im also getting all kinds of ideas and inspo for my favorite holiday. I so wanna change our Halloween decor outside. I am so ready to see Halloween on the shelves. With that though I know another round of holidays without you here are coming. All these memories now will not have you present but to say your not on my mind every step of the way is an understatement. I miss you dearly and pictures don't do my heart justice. Well mom surprise! I'm not having a good day. Every time I see the last time I wrote something, it seems like it should be longer. I thought it had been awhile since I wrote you but apparently not. Ugh. I just freaking miss you and I got a little angry and threw a temper tantrum like a little kid. I just need a mom. I want you back and I just feel it's unfair. It sucks and I don't like it!!!! I want to talk to you. I want to your presence to be a comfort. I hate being emotional but I just feel so empty at times and feel the sadness begin to pull me further down in the deep. I want to see you in person and not just through these pictures. It's not the same and never will be. It's stupid I have to go possibly 40 years without you!!!

MOTHER!! Did you think I forgot you?? Nope! Are you sick of me crying yet? Lets start with your grand daughter's dance and homecoming. She was beautiful and just in her element. I did well until her parade and on the way home just thinking of how you would have gotten a kick out of this. Then today the universe sends me a song and I fell deep into it. I'm trying my hardest to not shut out the world when the sadness calls but its very hard. Halloween has been a great distraction and typically makes me happy. I worry for when this month is over. Then its your holiday and well ..ouch. I do look at last year and compare it to this year and think I'm not as bad. Then again I read all these journal entries and I'm like...uh girl you need help.lol . I say it all the time mom. I miss you and wish you'd respond. One of the kids asked what I'd do if you were to respond and your grandson said I'd lock myself in that room forever. I don't think they understand sometimes I cry even when I'm happy and thinking of you. Its not always sadness, its more me telling you about life and what's going on. And its just there are times I'd really like to hear your voice. I love you and hope heaven watching is glorious! Tell Jesus hello and I hope he has a good day off today. Haha

Hello mother, you missed a fabulous Halloween. I enjoyed myself. I enjoyed our family get together. We passed out candy and had our movie playing outside. Watched a horror movie after trick or treating. We are definitely in the next phase of my kiddos being grown. Makes me smile cause I know if you were here it would be a conversation I'd share with you. It's the part I truly miss!! Talking to you and just being able to hear your input. Now I'm sad... But again mom, I really enjoy my holiday and it felt like a renewed spark. Last year was a haze and I felt like I was coming back out to live again this time. I'm grateful for the happiness I get with my family yet it can bring back the sadness of you not getting to be here for it all. I mean I know heaven is like super cool for you. And sometimes my happiness can be my sadness or vice versa. Its weird. I try to take it all in and I try to remind myself that missing you doesn't have to take me down the road of your passing. Now that Halloween is over, I do find excitement in putting up christmas . I'm going in this new direction and I think you'd like it but it is definitely different. Hopefully you will whisper your input. Love you mom and I miss you so much!!! Gotta go before the spiral.

My dear sweet mother, I was living life minding my own business and decided to watch one of my decorating videos and in her video she lost her mother. She talked about how hard it is to try and create when grieving. I of course cried like a baby. I felt her sadness and in so it has brought out my sadness. I remember the freshness of after your passing, and how it felt like I just didn't think I'd survive. We are now going on 2 years and at times it can still feel that way. I also have to remind myself that there have still been terrific and beautiful days. I cherish the good days cause I feel like it may be a hug from you. I still have conversations out loud to you and I can hear your response. I miss you so very much that it can be overwhelming. I know its okay though. Guess who? Yep it's me again. Remember how well I was doing? Well, it went to poop! Currently looking out my windows in living room. Ah the outside world. Yet I'm inside just thinking wow, your not here. A day I don't get to chat with you. A day you can't offer me some company. I'm sick of it!! Long distance is for the birds. I know I felt your presence yesterday or again god giving me glimmer. But I want to see your face,hear your voice. Do you hear me mention I miss you. I miss you so much that sometimes it pisses me off. Like dang stage 5 climber. I love you mom. Have a great heavenly day.

Long time no talk mother, its been a crazy time. Things are flying by to fast!! I feel the the sadness trying to take me. I feel the weight of it all trying to hinder me. I'm tired right now but I've been wanting to check in with you. I love and I'll catch up more later. I'm just tired and again trying to stay afloat. Love you

Happy mothers day my beautiful mother! I miss you so much! I wish I could take you to a nice patio with my sisters and we would embarrass you but also you'd laugh at us. I was by Utica square yesterday and the boujieness was a reminder of you. I love you. Please tell your husband to get his health under control or he will there to see you soon. Please come say hello!!!

Mom!!! I'm upset!!! And if you were here, you'd be getting an ear full. Your husband is pissing me off. Why could my parents just not love me and my sisters and take care of us in a healthy way. Noooo, y'all want to die in shitty ways and expect us to watch you both. I said your death took a toll and here goes dad. Again not listening to my well being. I can say this, cause with you. You had cancer, like you couldn't help that. With dad, what he can't put sugar down. It's dumb. You left me, now dad is going to die. Yay freaking me!. Just a bunch of kids with no parents. I expected y'all to have learned from your mistakes. But no, again bad parenting!!!! I'm sick of it, and to top it off. Why do I carry the guilt. Feel free to interject and say my government name out loud, cause your embarrassed by my outburst. Well you can't cause your freaking oil painting by a river up in heaven. While I'm here with no real parents!!!

Hello mom, did you think I wasn't gonna return? Sorry, I had some personal issues to attend too. Lol. well by now you and dad have caught up on what's been going on. Lets just say I don't like this new new situation. Dad has his on own page on here now. I didn't think I'd have to have 2 journals for my parents. I haven't figured off if I'm just gonna write him here or what. Dad I'm sure your listening. So I guess ill tell you too. I miss you both. The pain and sorrow is really starting to kick in from your absence. I'm trying to grasp at whatever hobby or activity will keep my mind off it. Of course things I see trigger a downward spiral very quickly. Hence why I'm here. Halloween is around the corner and I'm so use to that cheering me up but I find that is even becoming a struggle. I usually will watch scary movies around this time, but I can't cause I'm afraid of being alone and what scary things will come at me in the dark. Its just not feeling like my holiday. I did do a puzzle and that was probably the most cheerful I've been. Well I'm supposed to be asleep but you 2 ghosts love to haunt me. I love you both. I miss you both.

Hi mom. It's been a long while. I really can't remember my dream but all I know is your presence was with me and it's been a long time since I really felt that. I don't want to forget you mom. So much I'm feeling but it's just too much. So for now I'll just say I love you momma and I sure do miss you. I hope you and dad are looking down on us and rooting for us. Until I see yall again I. Gonna keep doing my best. Again I love you.

*hi mom,
I miss you and dad. It still hurts my heart to know you and him will not be here for the holidays. Yesterday that feeling punched me in the gut! I knew something was brewing because I felt the dark hole trying to pull me under. I'm trying to crawl out. So how is heaven? Is dad just building all kinds of things and doing back flips? I want to decorate for Christmas but I'm waiting on some news. If you could put in a good referral for Josh that would be great. I wish I could get a hug from you guys or even a high five. I miss you and dad*

Happy birthday mom!! I hope you're celebrating with dad. Today is Thanksgiving Eve and this was your jam!! You would be in the kitchen cooking and have all the windows open. I hope I embody that drive today. I feel like I'm ready to get in the kitchen and create!! Set a vibe, ya know light a candle, listen to my oldies. Well happy birthday pretty momma. I miss you and dad a lot. Sometimes you guys should come cheer me up.

Hey mom, I'm just watching little women and was just minding my business. Being thankful and enjoying a blessed day that God gave me. I'm still thankful, but in a quick moment. I'm reminded of the absence of you and dad. I miss the little things like me just sitting next to you on the couch watching a movie. Or now that it's christmas sitting and just admiring the christmas tree. You are the inspiration of me always setting a vibe. Sunday football makes me think of dad and how we watched games. Sometimes the happy memories will lead to the feeling of sadness and how gut punching it was to lose you. That feeling of my breath being taken away and the sudden feeling of loss. I love you and dad and just wish at times I could see or hear from you for a moment. Love you

Well I survived Christmas. It was definitely a struggle. More on the being motivated to get it done. But it got done. I understand why people say the holidays are tough when you lose loved ones. I mean when I really think about it, it is just depressing. I will no longer get the traditions that were between me and you or amongst my siblings. Its not about the gifts but more so the meaning behind that tradition. I no longer will get my Christmas pajamas on Christmas Eve from you and dad. I will never get to sleep an extra hour cause you got up before me to put on the ham. I will never have you to help clean or share the load of wrapping. My traditions died with you. Even if I continue with my own kids. Its sad to know as your kid, I will no longer get that with you. It is that thought for the remainder of of my life that I will no longer get to share that with you anymore. Makes me wanna say catch all of y'all after new year. I can't say this enough. I miss you 2. I miss our talks mom. I miss your guidance. Cree is missing you 2 a lot too. I see her sadness. I try to hold mine in while around her so she doesn't go to outer space. Unfortunately you gifted me with crying so easily. Love you mom and dad. Miss you both!!!

Hey momma, I've been hearing your voice and its definitely pushed me through. I did it mom. I'm enrolled in school which I know doesn't sound like much now but I took the 1st steps. You are apart of my driving force. I was able to tell dad before passing but he didn't get to see me actually do it. I wish you were both here to watch this next chapter of life. I especially wish I could just talk to you!!! I pray that god gives me the courage and knowledge to push through. I've had help and so I'm very humbled and thankful people believe in me. I love you mom and dad. Please continue to root for me!!!

Hey mom, I'm kinda going through it. I'm just sad again and sometimes when I get here to write you. I'm just to sad to say it all. I'm just tired of having to this without you. I see you and dad's stuff everywhere and I'm just reminded of how you 2 are gone. As much as I want to be grateful , I just can get so angry about this. I miss you, I really freaking miss you and dad.

Well I hear you both calling me, the painful memory of you both passing keeps flashing. The sadness is starting to boil over. The deep is starting to pull me under. Do I go willing or do I try keep my self afloat even though I feel the pull crushing me. Do you ever get tired of hearing me cry? Do you both not even remember me? the years have past yet I'm left with the same wound that appeared the day you past. Then dad left and I'm angry!!! I'm angry he left the way he did. My anger fuels my hurt and then again the void tries to swallow me. It's not okay, I wonder if any of us will be okay? Tragedy has marked us from the beginning. Why? I miss you, I will never have a new memory with you. You will not see my achievements, you won't see what becomes of our lives. Just stay this time, stay until I can see clear. Stay to comfort me. I love and miss you mom!! It doesn't get any easier

Hey mom, well its been 3 years. I thought I handled it pretty well..... Bahaha, except tuesday, yeah, that was your fault. It played in my head like a play by play flash back. And I really need the death face to just stay away from me. Today, I've invested in throwing you a D-day brunch. Your favorite vibe. All of us squirrel friends just coming together, continuing life. Cherishing new memories yet still yearning for you to be here with us. Before they come over. I want to tell you, that I miss you and I love you. Life is different without parents and being in this new club sucks. I wish I could have another dream were you visit and we catch up. I love you mrs. J

Happy mother's day mom!! While others are out buying flowers and cards and taking their mom out for dinner. I get to write a letter to you and I don't know if you are able to hear me. That kinda sucks, cause I'd give anything to just hear you, the dream I had of you after your passing just felt so final and I just crave some kind of connection. 3 years have passed and I still remember the gut punch I felt on you taking your last breathe. Sometimes it consumes me and takes me under. While today is about honoring mothers, I can say that I had a mother who made mistakes but how much I loved you. You are what I know, what I crave for comfort and support. You are my go to person, I wish I was able to just see you and just tell you what is going on in our life. How you would smile with delight on our continuing journey. How we haven't gave up on life, but with that comes a sorrow that is constant. An ache inside that as much as I try to keep at bay sometimes seeps to the surface and I feel hopeless. The sadness of not having a mother turns to jealousy. And though I can't blame anyone , I still feel anger. Anger that I don't get to enjoy my mother in the present. WHY? While I can sit and cry how unfair this may be. I can also cry and find some resemblance of joy, joy in knowing that you are my mother. You loved me and I love you! You saw me take my first breathe and I was privileged enough to see you take your last breathe. The memories of us on past mothers day. How we embarrassed you at , yet you wouldn't change that. How in the end you understood how if anything you could take with you, is knowing that your daughters have an unbreakable bond and how no matter what life throws at us, we have each other. I will end my letter on my song to you, cause I feel like when I'm with you its alright, and the songbirds are singing like they know the score. I love you, I love you like never before!!!

Happy mother's day mom! Please,please,please asks Jesus to just let you visit for a moment!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
