“ I've been struggling trying to find the right words to describe you and what you meant to me, Lynn. But one of the wonderful things about you was that you didn't expect perfection, simply that people were genuine. You were one of my best friends. You were beautiful, loving, understanding, supportive, and fun as hell. You loved life and encouraged those around you to do the same. I am so grateful to have been a part of your life. Right now, the pain is so deep, but I know when the time comes you'll be there to welcome us to the next adventure. I love you, Lynny Lynn ❤️

“ Such a sweet and fierce soul, our Lynn. You and Scott treated us like family from the beginning (even before we were officially band family). You were so loyal to the people you loved and we are so grateful to have been included in that group. Here's to rock n roll, metal men, crazy cats, and a wild ride! We love you.

“Lynn was one of the most bad a$$, ladies I ever had the pleasure of knowing. From rocking out at every good metal show that came to town to supporting local music, to even managing bands and standing up to idiot promoters and venues who wanted to take advantage, I never saw Lynn back down. Lynn loved tattoos, good music, motorcycles, her grandkids, and above all Scott. She will be greatly missed by anyone who knew her and I hope she is rocking out at the most epic metal show in heaven.

“When I met you Lynn I knew instantly that you were a down to earth amazing lady. I loved how no nonsense you are and your amazing sense of humor. There are few people I feel I have connected so easily with. As I only had the true pleasure of meeting you in person with my CO visit, I loved following and interacting with you on social media and keeping up with your life. I also truly appreciate how you checked in on my bestie so much for the past year, showing that you truly are the kind, amazing soul I thought you were when I first met you. Sturdy, down to earth, loving and kind is what I have always thought you are and always will. I am grateful I got to be a small part of your world. I hope you are having a blast in Heaven.

“ I had the pleasuring of knowing you for 23 years. It's hard to believe in that time we never had an opportunity to meet in person but as far as I am concerned, I knew the most important part of you, your heart. I remember you being so supportive and loving - and straight up the coolest chick I knew! You were a fighter to the end, may you rest in peace sweet lady.

I met Lynn and Scott 11 years ago in AZ as we were moving in. For me it is her smile and her good nature and her give a damm that made me want to be her friend. Lynn was a good friend and a very sweet lady she always gave you her heart and was always there when you needed her. She is going to be very missed on this earth, but she will Rock heavens. Give my Chris a hug for me my friend. I can't believe your gone, God calls his Angels home for he needs them. xoxo
