“ I met Patrick at OSU where both of us were seeking degrees in history. We took several classes together and had similar interests (horror movies, Renaissance fairs). This was an unforgettable time of my life as I thoroughly enjoyed college and quite a bit of that was because of Patrick. He pushed me to work harder, encouraged me when times were rough, and came to my rescue with hot cups of coffee in the student union when I was falling asleep. I'll never forget the race for the arcade machine which Patrick of course, won. Patrick was also a regular at Texas Frightmare Weekend where the group of us crammed into one hotel room to save money. He was funny, interesting to talk with, and incredibly intelligent. It was special knowing a person like Patrick and I will both miss and cherish the memories of him forever.
