“ I have many, many found memories of my Aunt Phyllis. Way back to the 1970's when I thought I wanted to look cool like her smoking cigarettes but I was like 9 or 10 so I used my crayons as fake ones. How she always wanted to make sure she looked good and took hours putting in her makeup just right before we could go anywhere. She always said what was on her mind. She was a little spitfire of a woman who could hold her own. I am thankful she had her brother(my dad) who helped take such great care of her when her road became too rough to navigate. I know she will be dearly missed by all her family & friends. Your spirit is free to roam, so fly, fly away wild one! 🙌

I always remember my aunt Phyllis as being fun loving and quite the character. And quite a bit of the time late. I definitely remember all of the Christmases we would wait for her to get there. But she always brought fun gifts for me and my sister. I remember a doll that she brought that could have been so used in these times, LOL. She brought us Barbie dolls that had dresses and the bottom of the dress was made out of a roll of toilet paper covered in material to look like a ball gown. I got that as a pretty young girl but probably kept it until I graduated high school and moved out on my own. Through all the years she's had her ups and downs and lots of health issues and could've really gotten her down but most of the times that I ever got to see her she was in good spirits in spite of it all. I know she was truly grateful that her brother, my dad, was there to help take care of her and see about her. I don't think anybody could've done anything more for her than he did. Aunt Phyllis I hope you're up there with your mom Telling her all the wild tales you have been waiting to tell her Since she passed. You are loved and will be missed. God bless you.

“ I have lots of memories of Phyllis, but one that has always stayed with me is when she was about 8 years old. We were walking thru some plowed fields in Arizona and talking about what we wanted to be when we grew up. So many things.

Now she can Rest In Peace with her Mother and knowing how much I loved and worried about her. I will miss her forever.

Her loving brother

“ Phyllis was my sister-in-law and I remember her as being a feisty petite girl who was tough. She was like this throughout her life. I have good memories of her, my favorite is when we went to Silver Dollar City, trying to walk all the hills, laughing at how we looked. We looked at everything and ended the night watching fireworks.

She was a good, kind and generous woman who I will miss.
