“ I just learned of Sarah's passing on her journey back home to Heaven's open door where she will be with all the other great family members that proceeded her. Sarah was always quick to tell me a good story of the days gone by where she grew up in Jenks with her brothers / my best friends. I trusted Sarah's account of the facts a bit more then that of my dear ol pals but then again Sarah was sober so ofcourse I'd believe her first. Sarah opened her lovely home to me on several occasions and cooked some of the finest brown beans and cornbread. She would make sure to pack me some to go and the last time she included the prized secret recipe for thickening the beans and the pepper cornbread. Previously over the years we'd joke that one day I'm gonna sneak a peek at her family recipies, all in fun but Sarah recognized when it was time to end the joke and so no more bean suppers with the boys (Cecil, Byrl and the Oklahoma Kid as they called me). I know where Sarah is and I cant wait to see her again smiling big and twinkle in her eye...no doubt ready to tell me some more stories on my pals, probably all the mischief theyve been into in heaven. Thank you Sarah for demonstrating how a true Okie Christian should compose oneself. Thanks for the laughs and allowing me to just be one of the boys and family. God bless the family as I'm sure you miss her more then words could express. Silver lining is she didnt have to go through all this last years craziness in a world she had grown to good for. Respectfully your friend Jeremy Paul Dempster aka the Oklahoma kid November 14th 2020
