“ The admiration I had for Shelia is unparalleled. She is the strongest woman, who fought for her life for her family and love of all. She will be so missed by so many. But I'm sure God needed a new angel, and there aren't many of us worthy of that service to God, but Shelia was. I am grateful she is going through no more pain, because she would suffer without complaint. Bless Shelia and all the loved ones she touched. May God give you peace through this truly difficult time.

“ I write this with a heavy heart. I remember growing up knowing I had a cousin that had the same name (except the middle name) as me. I thought it was really cool. Sheila was an amazing little girl and grew into a beautiful lady. She always had kind words for anyone she talked with. I'm sorry that I didn't take the time to see her when she came back home after we grew up. I know whata special lady she was from talking with her on Facebook and Messenger. She lived and loved her family. My heart goes out to her husband and the rest of her family. I pray for peace and healing for y'all. God has gained a precious soul. RIP Sheila ❤️🌹💔😭🙏

“ Although I wasn't a long time friend. Sheila was a long time friend of my dear friend Janet Woods. I only met Sheila once, but feel like I knew her from Janet. God bless this girl for all she went through. She fought a tough fight. I know she is at peace now and no longer in pain. Heaven has gotten another angel. I hope her friends and family can get through this tough time remembering all the special memories you have of Sheila and knowing she is at peace now. Condolences to all friends and family.

“ Life has been nothing short of a long jerky rough rollercoaster this year for us. We lost my dad December 3rd, 2021 and December 2nd, 2022, we lost one of the most loving women I have ever had in my life. That woman was nothing short of giving and selfless. Her and my dad were a lot of like in their rebellious natures but the flip side of that was both of their willingness to help whoever needed it. Aunt Sheila was a second mom to a lot of us. I had the best childhood and some of the funniest memories with her. Never a dull moment when she was around. She would lend an ear and make you laugh before the conversation was over. The biggest warmest hugs from a genuine soul that wanted you to be loved. It didn't matter the length of time that had gone by from one visit to the next, her face always lit up when she would see me and the kids. She was a Martha Stuart from her cooking to her crafting. She had a very large green thumb too. The amount of love in the room as she left this world on her journey to the next was palpable. We were lucky to have known a heart like hers and this place is a little darker without her in it. Love&Light Aunt Sheila.

I hope you and Daddy are giving each other hell up there. Watch over us. We love you!
