“ I think I was about 14 when I met Bill, spent many days and nights with the girls at his house and through church. A memory I will always hold dear is riding in the car with him one day and he started being silly saying “you can call me Ray” over and over....from then on out “Ray” it was! (and to make it even, I nicknamed Sandy “Faye”) Ray and Faye..an extra pair of parents for me. Never called him Bill again. You were something special Ray! Thank you for the memories. All my love family.

“ Was deeply saddened to hear of Bill's passing. We weren't related by blood but man he always made me feel like family. He was a rare larger than life type that someone how still had time for everyone. I will never forget the holidays and fun nights we got to spend with him, or the loving and caring nature he radiated.

Rest in peace big man, we'll never forget you.

“ My first memory of Bill was when us kids were sitting with him in church. He, trying to keep us entertained during the service, would take a deep breath and attempt to hold it through an entire prayer. We would crack up, trying not to laugh out loud! Hyland Owens

Oh yes!!! And he would sing very loudly (every other word) just trying to make us giggle! Great memory!! Thank you Hy! ❤️

Bill and I go a long way back. I was fortunate to have shared a lot of our activities with him. We met at Amoco and played golf together for many years. Then he discovered running and he quit playing golf and introduced me to running and later biking. I was fortunate enough to run and bike many miles with Bill. He and I shared lots of memories during our early morning drives to races in various towns and cities. After he started doing triathlons he ran less and certainly wasn't playing any more golf. Bill was like a brother to me. We shared a lot with each other that we wouldn't ever feel comfortable talking to anyone else about. He was a very special person, one of a kind, and I miss him and his friendship very much. Charles Bertalot

Thank you, Charles! You were such a good friend to my dad! I recall my dad reminiscing and telling us so many wonderful stories about you two. One in particular is that you two rode your bikes to Claremore on a few Saturday mornings. Wait, you rode your bicycles all the way to Claremore? Yep, rode bicycles to Claremore for breakfast. When we asked what you did after breakfast, he said...we rode our bicycles back home. The ride, the friendship, and breakfast together...that was the outing on those Saturday mornings. Thank you so much for your dear friendship with my dad, Charles!
